Northern California!

Pediatric Physical Therapist Position Now Available

Upper Bidwell Park, Chico

Work in scenic Northern California for Butte County Public Health's California Children's Services Program. We have two school-based licensed Medical Therapy Rehabilitation Units located in the charming hometown of California State University, Chico and the historic Gold Rush town of Oroville, both at the base of the northern Sierra Nevada mountains. Known for its outdoor recreation and college-student lifestyle, Chico is the cultural center for arts and entertainment, professional and scholarly lectures, research, and community events.

We are a dynamic progressive pediatric team of PT's and OT's providing services to children (birth to 21) with special health care needs. We are looking for an innovative, energetic, and enthusiastic therapist who is interested in growing professionally and extending his or her knowledge and skills in new and effective modalities and methods of early developmental treatment.

We are a collaborative group of professionals who deeply care about the children we serve. Since early intervention is critical to the trajectory of developmental potential, we are looking for an individual who is excited about new frontiers of neuro-developmental research and practices and growing with our team.

The position is full time with comprehensive benefits including medical, dental, and vision insurance, paid time off, and an excellent state retirement system (PERS).

If our position sounds like you, please contact us at the Butte County CCS: <http://www.buttecounty.net/personnel>. Or, call Terri Johnson at: 530.895.6546 for information and clarification of experience.
