CAL FIRE/Butte County Fire Urges residents to use caution during High Winds

Butte County – Due to the high winds predicted for Wednesday and Thursday, CAL FIRE/Butte County Fire is reminding County residents that a “no burn” day has been issued by Butte County Air Quality Management District for both days.

In addition to complying with the no-burn regulations, it is important that any burn piles that may have been active in the past few days be checked for hot embers. “The high, erratic winds and predicted low humidity’s can cause even old piles to reignite and quickly spread,” stated Division Chief Rob Cone.
