Butte County is updating its General Plan to rebuild and create a more resilient future. The update will cover all aspects of the General Plan but is focused on improving community safety from both human caused and natural hazards, ensuring there is safe and affordable housing for all community members at all income levels, and promoting environmental justice. This environmental justice stakeholder meeting will focus on identifying the breadth and geographic scope of environmental justice issues facing unincorporated communities in Butte County, confirming where impacted communities are located and how to engage with them, and discussing how to address environmental justice in the updated General Plan.
